QUICK GUIDE

FULL-COVER ZIPPED BIKE COVER

Stretch cover in polyester and elastane with a full-length zip, about 165 cm. It wraps the whole bike to keep it, and your home, free of dust, tyre marks and scratches.

ROAD, GRAVEL, MTB · POLYESTER + ELASTANE, FULL ZIP · ≈ 165 CM, STRETCH FIT

What it does

It wraps frame and wheels: mud, sand and chain grease stay inside, not on the floor, the wall or the car seats. The stretch fabric fits a road bike, a gravel bike or a mountain bike; the elastic edges hold it without straps. It is meant for indoor use: flat, hallway, garage, lift, car boot or train.

Putting it on

1. Clean, dry bike. A wet bike shut inside a cover sweats and rusts faster than a bare one. Let it dry before covering it.
2. Open the zip fully and pull the cover over the bike from the saddle, down over the handlebar and then the wheels.
3. Pull the elastic edges under both wheels, then adjust the fabric so nothing sticks out.
4. Close the zip without forcing. If it snags, fabric is caught in it: back off one notch, free it, carry on.
5. To take it off, open the zip and turn the cover inside out: the dirt stays inside. Shake it out outdoors.

Care

- Hand wash or cold machine wash, air dry, flat or hung up.
- No tumble dryer, no radiator: heat slackens the elastane and the cover never springs back.

IF SOMETHING GOES WRONG

- The cover rides up the wheels: the elastic edges are not under the tyres; go back to step 3.
- The zip forces: fabric is caught, or the cover is on crooked. Never yank the slider.
- Smell or condensation inside: the bike was covered wet. Take it out and let bike and cover dry, open.

WHAT IT DOES NOT DO

- It limits ambient damp, it is not waterproof: no parking in the rain. It has no padding: in a hold or a van it is no substitute for a padded transport bag. It is not a lock.
