QUICK GUIDE

RUBBER SPD-SL CLEAT COVERS, PAIR

Two plastic and rubber shells that slip over SPD-SL cleats the moment you put a foot down: the cleat stops wearing, you stop sliding on tiles, and mud stays out. 60 g per pair, in a jersey pocket.

REF. PROCAL1 · FIXED AND FLOATING SPD-SL CLEATS · PLASTIC AND RUBBER, ≈ 60 G PER PAIR

Why cover your cleats

- A road cleat wears with every step on tarmac, gravel or tiles; a worn cleat releases badly and loses its setting.
- Rubber stops you sliding on a smooth floor: café terrace, station concourse, car park.
- It keeps mud and grit out of the cleat, where they would later get in the way of clipping in.
- It also protects floors: parquet, tiles, the boot of the car.

In three moves

1. Slip them on before walking: hook the front of the cover over the nose of the cleat, then fold the rear down over the cleat's heel until it catches. It holds by its shape, with no strap.
2. Walk normally. The cover follows the cleat, not the sole: you still walk like a cyclist, but steadily and quietly.
3. Take them off before getting back on, unhooking the rear then the front. A covered cleat will not engage in the pedal. Keep the pair in a rear jersey pocket or the saddle bag.

Care

A rinse with water is enough; let them dry before putting them away. Replace the pair when the rubber is smooth or a cover no longer catches firmly on the cleat.

Specifications

Colour	Black	Dimensions	9.8 × 6.8 × 1.6 cm
Weight	≈ 60 g per pair	Contents	2 cleat covers

IF SOMETHING GOES WRONG

- It will not catch: the cleat is not an SPD-SL (a KEO cleat or a mountain bike SPD cleat has another shape), or the cleat is so worn the cover has nothing to grip.
- It falls off while walking: the rear is not folded fully down over the cleat's heel. Hook it on again.
- The cleat no longer engages in the pedal: a cover is still on. Take it off.

DON'T

- Never ride with the covers on, even for a few metres: the foot is not held. No cover on a KEO or SPD cleat.
